Turky

A still life scene on a wooden table. In the background, a wooden crate is filled with dark soil and ginger roots. To its left is a woven basket, also containing soil and ginger. In the foreground, several ginger roots are scattered on a wooden cutting board. A glass of water and a small pile of dark seeds are also visible on the table. The overall atmosphere is natural and rustic.

Healthy and Sustainable Living

Our homes and the way we live have a huge impact on our health, well-being, and the planet

- Creating a movement in society around better everyday living
- Inspiring and enabling people to live healthier, more sustainable lives
- Promoting circular and sustainable consumption

Circular and Climate Positive

Our approach of making more from less has enabled the IKEA business to reduce waste and become more efficient in all we do.

- Transforming into a circular business
- Becoming climate positive
- Regenerating resources, protecting ecosystems and improving biodiversity

Fair and Equal

Being inclusive is about both engaging with others in the work they do and inviting others to participate in our work

- Providing and supporting decent and meaningful work across the IKEA value chain
 - IWAY, the IKEA code of conduct for suppliers
- Being an inclusive business
- Promoting equality

HOW WE MAKE IT HAPPEN

- By 2030 we strive all our products to be produced using 100% renewable energy
- Introducing more good food that's good for the planet
- Giving IKEA furniture a second life
- 100% of our home deliveries to be made using electric vehicles (EV) or other zero-emission solutions
- Creating more sustainable stores – Ljubljana, Vienna, Greenwich (BREEAM certificate)
- Supporting refugees around the world
- Promoting gender balance and equal pay
- Advocating for a net zero carbon economy
- Working with social entrepreneurs
